The season of giving

As we approach the Holiday Season, we know that many of you look for ways to give back. Sometimes that means an end-of-year tax deduction donation. Other times it means giving your time or your talents. Any way you slice it, our diverse nonprofit community can use your support. And we have a ton of amazing nonprofits that focus on so many different aspects of our quality of life here in our community.

It’s that holiday time again, and my personal favorite, holiday season by the beach. That vibrant period of time from Thanksgiving, Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, until New Years is here. For many, fall and winter mark the intense seasonality, but for our beach town we are quite blessed with consistent weather, sun filled December skies—so much to be thankful for.

Could Carlsbad be the next Blue Zone? When speaking of gratitude, being thankful is a key ingredient and daily behavior of Blue Zones (geographic areas with the world’s happiest and longest-lived). At the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce, we are grateful for our talented group of new and renewed members.

BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

Iconic, That Pizza Place is back!

It feels good to go home! That Pizza Place, the iconic Carlsbad pizza restaurant has reopened. For those who are unfamiliar with That Pizza Place, here’s a little bit of its history. In 1978, Mike and Yvette Pfankuch opened the doors to That Pizza Place. It quickly became the go-to spot for great food, youth sports, and community. It became a part of the DNA of Carlsbad, beloved by many. The Pfankuch family went on to operate That Pizza Place for over 40 years.

During the height of the Covid 19 pandemic, they made the difficult decision to close the doors to the restaurant. Generations of devoted customers were devastated. As news spread of That Pizza Place’s closure, local friends were devastated. John, Chris, Troy, and Thadd spent nearly two years renovating the restaurant and reopened the long-standing Carlsbad tradition.

Before the end of this year, let’s each do our part to help someone out and give back. And shop, dine, and spend those extra dollars locally, supporting our friends and neighbors—the business owners of Carlsbad who continually uplift North County.

“Everything is awesome!” LEGOLAND has forever changed the way I hear this phrase. It’s true, everything is cool when you’re part of a team. I am thankful to have LEGOLAND as a key team player in the Carlsbad community. This year, the Carlsbad Chamber awarded LEGOLAND CALIFORNIA with the People’s Choice Award. With something for everyone, LEGOLAND California Resort includes a family theme park, SEA LIFE, Aquarium, Legoland Waterpark and two hotels. These are seasonal theme nights like Brick or Treat, Holidays, and Kids New Year’s Eve. They offer full packages for guests which includes staying, playing, and dining. For local residents, it’s an easy after school to spend a few hours. Legoland has such a positive impact on our community, especially the next generation. I am thrilled they won this award.

LEGOLAND California (the theme park) has more than 60 attractions and attractions. It includes popular themes such as Ninjago and Lego City. The newest hit is a Triple Decker Flying Coaster known as Tomorrow’s Flying Adventure Ride. Using cutting edge technology and a full dome virtual reality, the ride transports you into the Lego Movie World. There are more than just rides too. The interactive building area - Ferrari Build and Race is designed to place guests in the drivers seat of a Lego replica F40 and spark their imagination to build, test, and race one themselves.

Legoland SeaLife is a wonderful aquarium display of ocean creatures. There are hands on learning areas and close up encounters with sharks, octopi, and rays. They recently added a Sea at night display (available during the day) to highlight some of the special characteristics of our oceans. After you visit and learn about our oceans, what better way to enjoy the SoCal summertime than a dip in the waterpark. With seven slides, a sandy beach, wave pool, lazy river, and splash pads its sure to provide smiles.

As a long time LEGOLAND passholder, it is incredible to see the growth and economic impact this resort has. They provide many teenagers their first job experience, which is a direct career pathway into hospitality and customer service. They transfer top level executive talent to the region. They are awarded for their leadership in emergency preparedness. Behind the scenes the LEGOLAND team works tirelessly to provide guests and our community with an incredible experience. LEGOLAND California Resort is awesome!

That Pizza Place is very proud of their menu which includes original recipes, house made dressings, sauces, and potatoes chips (salt, BBQ, and salt n vinegar). Notably, the Lunch special is still on the menu Monday through Friday 11am-3pm (which includes a personal size pizza, salad, and fountain drink-the best deal in town!) There are some new items on the menu that you must try! That Pizza Place now serves chicken wings tossed in house made sauces like mild buffalo, extra spicy buffalo, garlic parmesan, house made barbeque, honey-cinnamon, and barbecue dry rub (or order them naked). Believe it or not, they go through hundreds of pounds of wings per week. These wings are quickly becoming a major crowd favorite. The TIP House salad is also a patron favorite-including house made blood orange vinaigrette, spring mix, dried cherries, pine nuts, goat cheese, tomatoes, black olives, parsley and carrots and onions. They also offer desserts like their own spin on a Pazookie and Brookie, a skillet baked cookie served with ice cream and whipped cream. As owner Troy Guerra loves to reiterate, “nothing at That Pizza Place is like their own spin on a Pazookie and Brookie, a skillet baked cookie served with ice cream and whipped cream. The sunsets are hitting earlier. The waves are getting bigger. And those hoodies are staying on longer. These are sure signs that the holidays are not far behind.

Soon, our days will be filled with family, comfort food and of course, shopping for everyone on our list. For me, this time of year is yet another reminder of just how good we have it in Carlsbad. From high-end luxury to homespun macrame, you can find it here—all while skipping big crowds.

Of course, holiday shopping in Carlsbad is not only convenient; it’s also good for our economy. In fact, Carlsbad is home to thousands of small businesses that collectively provide about 38,450 jobs in our community.

Many of us already value the importance of shopping locally. But in case anyone needs an extra nudge, here’s a quick look at some of the new or lesser-known perks you’ll want to have handy as you start your holiday shopping in Carlsbad.

Carlsbad Village, Carlsbad Village Drive in downtown Carlsbad

Of course, it just wouldn’t be a complete holiday season without a visit (or a few) to Carlsbad Village. Easily one of the most iconic parts to our community, this bustling hub always delivers excellent shopping, dining and events. As we enter the holiday season, mark your calendar for these happenings:

- The much-loved Holiday Showcase will return Saturday, December 3, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Michael’s by-the-Sea Episcopal Church, 2775 Carlsbad Blvd. This is your prime opportunity to shop for locally-made gifts, including clothing, jewelry, handbags, pottery, home décor, macrame, glasswork, photography, artwork, woodworking and more.
- New Village Arts has also announced that due to popular demand, it’s bringing back its production of “1222 Oceanfront: A Black Family Christmas.” The production premiered last year to much acclaim, with press releases, highlighting the production and running from December 1 to December 11. Tickets can be purchased at newvillagearts.org.

The San Diego Union Tribune recently premiered last year to much acclaim, with a cast of local actors and a beautiful set design. The production sold out within a few days of its opening and was a huge hit with audiences of all ages. This year, the production will run from November 29 to December 11 at the New Village Arts Theatre, 2775 Carlsbad Blvd.

To purchase tickets, visit newvillagearts.org and select the show date and time that works best for you. Please note that seating is limited due to COVID-19 safety protocols, so don’t wait too long to reserve your seats! Also, all shows are presented as outdoor performances on the New Village Arts Stage, weather permitting.

Theatre-goers can expect an immersive experience that brings together music, dance, and storytelling to create a heartwarming holiday celebration. The show features live performances by local artists, including songs from classic Christmas carols to contemporary holiday anthems.

Not only is Carlsbad Village Drive a popular destination for holiday shopping, but it also offers a variety of festive fall breads. Visit Carlsbad Villages Drive for your prime opportunity to shop for local, handmade items and enjoy the festive atmosphere.

CARLSBAD PREMIUM OUTLETS, 5620 Paseo Del Norte

Home to more than 150 retailers, this open-air outlet mall attracts shoppers from all over San Diego County. While it’s well-known to most of us locals, there are few things to keep on your radar this fall:

- Luxury label Karl Lagerfeld recently opened a store here, which notably, is the only one in San Diego County. Zadig&Voltaire, another high-end retailer, also joined the ranks in the past year—making it the only location in North County.
- Of course, because this is an outlet mall, the discounts already run deep. But, did you know you can score even bigger discounts by enrolling in the VIP Club here? It’s free to join, and you’ll get additional savings on top of discounted prices, allowing you to save up to 70 percent. Go to premiumoutlets.com/vip to sign up.

There are so many ways you can make the most of your holiday shopping here in Carlsbad. Whether you visit one of these areas, The Shoppes, Bressi Ranch, or any of our small businesses throughout the city, shopping in Carlsbad this holiday season is a win/win. And most importantly, however you choose to celebrate the season, we hope that it brings you plenty of happiness and health!
Small businesses spark innovation

November 26th marks the much-anticipated, post-Thanksgiving holiday shopping tradition that brings together communities in support of their favorite small brick-and-mortar operations to help their communities thrive. It is called Small Business Saturday®, and in many respects, to the solopreneurs and mom and pop shops in Carlsbad Village, it is our Super Saturday! Black Friday (and Cyber Monday) began with one goal in mind: to help businesses maximize profits. Small Business Saturday®, on the other hand, is about more than just the money. Small Business Saturday®, the day after Black Friday, is a day dedicated to local participation and elevates the awareness of the good local businesses bring to the community.

According to the Small Business Administration, nearly twenty-seven million small businesses in the United States generate about 50 percent of our GDP. They also contribute to growth and vitality in several important areas of economic and socio-economic development. Small businesses create jobs, spark innovation, and provide opportunities for women and minorities to achieve financial success and independence.

The Festival also has a new Managing Director, Ahmed Dents, who is also the new Associate Artistic Director at the New Village Arts theatre in Carlsbad. Dents is committed to contributing to the cultural impact in Carlsbad and commented, “It is an honor to be working in the City of Carlsbad and deeply involved in the music and arts scene here. I am very excited for the return of the festival this year and look forward to seeing the smiling faces of the residents of Carlsbad and surrounding communities come together and enjoy some ‘adventurous music by the sea’ with the Carlsbad Music Festival’s sublime lineup of artists.”

MiraCosta College earns highest bond ratings from Moody’s & S&P for a third time

The MiraCosta Community College District maintains the highest credit ratings from both Moody’s Investors Services (Moody’s) and Standard & Poor’s Global (S&P), receiving a AAA from Standard and Poor’s Global and a AAA from Moody’s. This is the third time MiraCosta has received each agency’s top rating, having also earned the same ratings in 2017 and 2020. Both agencies recognized the District’s healthy financial position, the sustainable tax base of North County San Diego, leadership, and solid student enrollment. According to Moody’s report, the MiraCosta College assigned rating is based on the following statement: “The stable outlook reflects our expectations that financial performance will remain strong, supported by continued tax base growth, conservative budgeting practices, and strong liquidity.”

Meanwhile, the S&P report explains, “the ratings reflect our view of the district’s deep, diverse, and wealthy tax base that is extremely strong on a per capita level. Strong financial policies and practices, with an experienced management team, Community-funded status that generates an additional $68 million of operating revenue outside of the state framework, and Maintenance of very strong and growing available general fund balances, which management expects will continue.”

A key factor in the AAA credit rating was the District’s strong “Financial Management Assessment (FMA).” The report elaborates that, “We view the district’s financial management policies and practices as strong under our financial management assessment (FMA) methodology. An FMA of strong indicates financial practices are strong, well-embedded, and likely sustainable. Key management practices and policies include frequent review of the budget with board participation, as well as realistic and well-grounded revenue and expenditure assumptions.” The report also notes that, “Driven by the district’s recent history of positive financial performance, it maintained its reserve position at levels that we consider very strong, building its unrestricted general fund reserves by more than 23% over the past three years.”

“The District is committed to maintaining a sustainable and transparent financial model. This is clearly articulated in our long-term goals and is one of the factors that has led to these excellent ratings,” comments MiraCosta College Superintendent/President Dr. Sunita Cooke. “The favorable reports reflect the District’s strong and stable board of trustees and the dedicated work of the exceptional employees who serve our students and community daily.”

The high ratings come as MiraCosta College prepares to issue its third round of general obligation bonds, which authorized $455 million in 2016 through the passage of Proposition MA by the District’s local taxpayers. The bond money will be used to modernize aging facilities and upgrade instructional technology. “The high credit ratings are a recognition of MiraCosta’s fiscal prudence that allows us to continue to be good stewards of taxpayer dollars. The highest bond rating means the lowest possible borrowing cost and savings to the taxpayers,” explains Board President Anna Pedraza.

MiraCosta Community College celebrates top ratings for healthy financial standing, leadership, and solid student enrollment.

CARLSBAD BUSINESS JOURNAL

From classroom to career

Sage Creek High School Engineering Design Pathway students recently met Shark Tank success, Chris Crawford and learned how to take an idea from a prototype to a final design plus the patenting process.

At Carlsbad Unified we strive to prepare our students with the future-ready skills they need to build successful careers and fulfilling lives. We aim to expose our young people to a variety of career pathways, bringing the world of work into the classrooms, and taking our students out into business and industry so that they can find their passions and learn real-world skills.

A career at an award-winning design and production company? CHTV teachers Doug Green and Kurt Kohnen’s Broadcasting class was visited by a former student, Gary Koopsen, who is now Creative Director of Drive Studios, a premiere video production agency. Mr. Koopsen found his love of video production as a student in Broadcasting programs at Aviara Oaks Middle School and CHTV. He credits much of his career success to Mr. Green and to his experiences as a student in those programs, which provided him with the hands-on, relevant, academic and technical training that led to his current successful career. Students in the Sage Creek High School Broadcast Journalism Pathway were thrilled to meet Mr. Koopsen and learn about his technical work in state-of-the-art graphics, show packages, and visual effects.

Or become an inventor and entrepreneur? Sage Creek High School Engineer Design Pathway students recently met inventor and entrepreneur Chris Crawford. Mr. Crawford developed a product in his garage called Rinsekit, an innovative portable shower designed for surfers, campers, and others in need of a quick clean-up on the go. He pitched Rinsekit on Shark Tank, and his product took off globally. He now owns over 50 patents and many products. Mr. Crawford spoke to the SCHS students about the process of taking an idea from a prototype to a final design. He also explained the patenting process and how to scale a product into a successful business.

Profitable work in the building trades? Aviara Oaks Middle School students in the Architecture and Construction Pathway met with Mike McSweeney from California Homebuilding Foundation to learn about career opportunities in the building trades sector. Mr. McSweeney told them about the various skills and training he needed to work in a variety of construction-related jobs. The students then created their own construction business. They employed their wood-working skills to build a functional and comfortable product—an adirondack chair—and began taking orders for their creations.

As the job market and the economy continue to evolve, our approach to preparing students for their careers must adapt to these new realities. But what remains constant is the value of the employability skills reflected in our Graduate Profile: Effective Communicator and Collaborator, Lifelong Learner, Critical Thinker, College and Career-Ready Scholar, Ethical and Responsible Citizen, and Self-directed Individual.

We invite the employers in our community to join us in our efforts to educate tomorrow’s leaders.
Should you go to the Emergency Room, Urgent Care or Walk-in Clinic?

Differences between emergency and non-emergency care

All too often, illness or injury appears out of the blue. You wake up in the middle of the night with intense abdominal pain. You stumble while carrying groceries up a flight of stairs, and cannot put weight on your swollen ankle. Or your baby spikes a high fever on the weekend.

When these situations occur, we’re often faced with uncertainty about where to go for care, especially if the symptoms seem severe and our regular doctor’s office is closed.

While the answer is not always simple, knowing the difference between a walk-in clinic, an urgent care center and a hospital emergency room can make a huge difference, especially if you have a medical emergency.

• When to go to the ER
• When to call 911
• When to go to urgent care
• When to go to a walk-in clinic
• How to be prepared

What’s the difference between ER, urgent care and walk-in clinic?

Recognizing the differences between ‘emergency’ and ‘urgent’ care can be confusing, because both terms imply there is a medical need that needs to be addressed quickly, however, there are distinct differences between hospital emergency rooms, traditional urgent care centers or walk-in clinics, including the level of care that can be provided at each.

Hospital emergency departments provide medical care at any time, day or night. Unlike urgent care centers or walk-in clinics, they are equipped and staffed to handle the most complex or critical needs, including life- and limb-threatening situations ranging from heart attack and stroke to traumatic injuries following a car accident.

Urgent care or walk-in clinics help fill a vital gap when you become sick or injured, but your regular doctor is not available and you can’t wait for an appointment.

Recognizing the differences between ‘emergency’ and ‘urgent’ care can be confusing, because both terms imply there is a medical need that needs to be addressed quickly,” says Shawn Evans, MD, an emergency medicine physician at Scripps Memorial Hospital La Jolla.

“However, there are distinct differences between hospital emergency rooms, traditional urgent care centers or walk-in clinics, including the level of care that can be provided at each.”

Hospital emergency departments provide medical care at any time, day or night. Unlike urgent care centers or walk-in clinics, they are equipped and staffed to handle the most complex or critical needs, including life- and limb-threatening situations ranging from heart attack and stroke to traumatic injuries following a car accident.

Urgent care or walk-in clinics help fill a vital gap when you become sick or injured, but your regular doctor is not available and you can’t wait for an appointment.

“If your sudden illness or injury is something you would normally feel comfortable addressing with your primary care doctor, then an urgent care center or walk-in clinic setting is probably more appropriate than the emergency room,” says Dr. Evans.

When to go to the ER

Certain medical conditions are considered emergencies because they can require rapid or advanced treatments, including surgery, that are only available in a hospital setting.

Symptoms that are best evaluated in an emergency room include:

• Chest pain or difficulty breathing
• Weakness/rumbleness on one side
• Panting/change in mental state
• Serious burns
• Head or eye injury
• Convulsion/confusion
• Broken bones and dislocated joints
• Fever with a rash
• Seizures
• Severe cuts that may require stitches
• Facial lacerations
• Severe cold or flu symptoms
• Vaginal bleeding during pregnancy

“Trust your gut,” says Dr. Evans. “If your personal instinct or your motherly intuition tells you it’s serious, don’t hesitate — go to the nearest emergency room.”

Scripps emergency rooms are located in Encinitas, La Jolla (inside Prebys), San Diego (in Hillcrest) and Chula Vista.

When to call 911

Even if it is clear that you or your loved one needs emergency care, you may not be sure whether to drive yourself to an emergency room or call 911.

“Many people are nervous about calling 911, but it’s better to be safe than sorry,” says Dr. Evans. “You should never drive yourself if you are having severe chest pain or severe bleeding, if you feel like you might faint or if your vision is impaired. When in doubt, please call 911 — what matters most is that you get to the emergency room quickly and safely.

In case of a heart attack or stroke, calling or having someone call 911 for an ambulance is always the right decision. Paramedics often can begin delivering life-saving treatment on the way to the hospital.

When to go to urgent care

Urgent care is not emergency care. Urgent care centers are same-day clinics that can handle a variety of medical problems that need to be treated right away, but are not considered true emergencies.

If your sudden illness or injury is something you would normally feel comfortable addressing with your primary care doctor, then an urgent care center or walk-in clinic setting is probably more appropriate than the emergency room,” says Dr. Evans.

When to go to a walk-in clinic

Walk-in clinics are a good option for when you are not feeling well, but it’s not serious enough for the emergency room or urgent care.

Walk-in clinics offer fast, convenient access to medical care. No appointment is necessary. They are generally staffed by nurse practitioners and physician assistants.

Walk-in clinics, including Scripps HealthExpress, address the most minor of ailments, such as:

• Painful urination
• Rash without fever
• Mild flu-like symptoms
• Cough and congestion symptoms
• Sore throat
• Ear pain
• Eye redness, discharge or itchiness

Many walk-in clinics also provide sports physicals and vaccines.

Scripps offers HealthExpress care at multiple Scripps Clinic and Scripps Coastal locations throughout San Diego County.

Join the waitlist for Scripps HealthExpress by calling 858-554-7439 or by adding your name to the waitlist online.

How to prepare for a medical visit

When you go for your medical visit, it’s a good idea to bring a list of medications you take, including over-the-counter medicine, vitamins and supplements, how much you take and how often.

Also keep with you a list of any allergies (including medication allergies) and any previous medical procedures or surgeries you’ve had, including the dates they were performed and the names of the physicians or surgeons who treated you.

Topically in an emergency setting, it can be very helpful for the physician treating you to know whether you’ve had operations in the past, or whether you’re allergic to medications or anesthesia,” says Dr. Evans.

Many people use the emergency room as a place to receive after-hours care for minor illnesses or injuries without realizing they have another option,” says Dr. Evans.

Symptoms that can be evaluated and treated at an urgent care clinic include:

• Fever without a rash
• Vomiting or persistent diarrhea
• Abdominal pain
• Wheezing or shortness of breath
• Dehydration
• Moderate flu-like symptoms
• Sprains and strains
• Small cuts that may require stitches

Call your primary care doctor’s office in case you can get a same-day appointment, if your symptoms come on gradually or if you already know your health history, including what treatments have worked best in the past and whether you have other medical conditions that need to be taken into consideration.

An urgent care clinic is not a substitute for your primary care physician, but it is a great resource when you need care but can’t get in with your doctor.

Remember to call your primary care services for children and adults — seven days a week — at Jefferson (in Oceanicdes), Rancho Bernardo and Torrey Pines.

Learning through a chamber

I joined Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce within a couple of months of starting Develop Your Team. Thank goodness I did! I didn’t know what I didn’t know about starting and running a business. Fortunately, folks at the Chamber did know. And they’ve been happy to share, helping me grow personally and professionally with connection, learning, opportunities, and support. I have connected with so many wonderful people through the Chamber and have developed truly rewarding friendships. And I find that whenever I need any kind of service or product, now I know someone who does that—whatever it is. How often have you had the experience that you need something done and your biggest stumbling block is finding the right person to do it? Of course, it’s also true when those same connections become a referral source for me—thinking of me when they want to elevate their team’s performance to the next level.

I have had excellent opportunities to learn through the Carlsbad Chamber—and through workshops, First Friday Breakfast speakers, committees, and great conversations with other Chamber members. I’ve attended formal workshops to develop skills using technology (like Google for Business, multiple social media platforms, SEO, and CRM). Other workshops have helped me with topics such as strategic business planning, marketing, accounting, and so much more! I’ve attended and facilitated the Chamber’s “17-Second Commercial” workshop, where I’ve learned how to introduce myself and my business in a way that generates interest and curiosity. Having so many opportunities to interact with other Chamber members has helped me learn how to have a meaningful conversation with others about their business, and my own.

Carlsbad Chamber has given me many opportunities for leadership and to share my skills and knowledge with others. Carlsbad Chamber has provided me with many opportunities for leadership and to share my skills and knowledge with others. By getting involved in committees, participating in events, and volunteering to help with programs such as First Friday Breakfast table facilitation and Coffee Connection, my business has gained exposure as well. I have also received so much support both personally as well as professionally through the Chamber. Whenever I’ve needed something, Chamber staff and fellow members have been there to support me. Someone to test a new activity? Chamber! People to interview for my research about teams? Chamber! Someone to give me feedback about anything? Chamber staff and members always step up in a big way. I can’t imagine not being part of this Chamber and am honored and proud to be part of this community.
