OUR VERY OWN

EMERGING LEADER

Kathleen McNary

VP of Member Relations
Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce

9 years ago, Kathleen was working at a local company (LendSpark) when her boss asked her to help them join the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce. Though she was an International Business graduate and had no idea what a Chamber was, she instantly became fascinated with the organization. Within a few months of joining as a member, she was hired to work for the Chamber in membership sales. And, as with any small organization, she developed into doing quite a bit of everything.

Kathleen's drive is unmatched. Simply put, knowing that if she does not work, she will be extremely bored and then overloaded, keeps her on her toes. As she will often tell you, "every minute counts!" Kathleen is a natural at connecting with others and building relations and that is why she knows she is at the right place. "I love people, I love to help others, and being able to do that in countless ways is my dream job."

And if you asked her who has been her biggest mentor or someone she looks up to, she will not hesitate to say it's her mother. "She was a lawyer and then a judge before she retired, so a very different career, but she has had chronic illness and cancer that she never let stop her dedication and passion for her work to help others in the community."

Two years ago, Kathleen was diagnosed with brain cancer, but she has not let that stop her from helping this organization and the community she adores. Needless to say, Kathleen is an Emerging Leader in every way, and we are so glad she is ours.

Kids Care Finder

As a native San Diegan, I've always had strong ties to working with and finding ways to support my local community. I spent the last 15 years of my career in the corporate world working in several different departments at Wells Fargo Bank. Most recently, I spent the past several years as a Business Execution Consultant, where I had an exciting job concepting and executing on new and innovative Commercial Banking strategies. While I had an amazing career and will always be grateful to Wells Fargo for providing me with a platform to use and grow my strategic and creative business skills, I somehow always knew it wasn't my true calling. When I became a mom in 2019, my whole world was turned right side up, and my priorities quickly shifted. Working long hours and setting off on countless business trips became quite unappealing. I spent the next few years in a constant tug-of-war between work and home life. Simultaneously, I was also caught in a vicious cycle of the never-ending search to find reliable childcare. I found myself at a breaking point when I was on maternity leave with my third baby boy and was yet again searching for new childcare options for my older two sons. My heart broke when I realized I had spent half of my leave not paying attention to my perfect newborn baby, but instead, I was spending nearly all my waking hours searching, posting, calling, emailing, and touring countless Daycares and Preschools. It was exhausting, discouraging, and at one point, I felt entirely hopeless. I knew that there needed to be a better way. There needed to be ONE place where parents could go, regardless of their child's age, or what type of program they were looking for, where they could find the right fit for their family's unique needs. The next day, I applied for a business license, purchased a domain, and Kids Care Finder was born. Kids Care Finder is the answer to this enormous crisis facing every American family with children. With our first provider categories launching this summer, we are thrilled to embark on what will be an incredible journey to help parents everywhere find everything they need for their kids in ONE place, so they can focus on what truly matters - spending quality time with their children.

Adam Jacobs

Co-Founder
Jacobs Scheriff Group
Fortis Fitness Strength
Training & YOGALUX

Adam Jacobs is a founding partner of The Jacobs Scheriff Group, a business consulting firm whose mission is to add value to companies or organizations whose product or service positively impacts society. He and his business partner and friend, Erin Scheriff, believe that being a profitable company and doing good for the world are not mutually exclusive ideals. That is how The Jacobs Scheriff Group was originated and why they truly believe in a "Growth For Good" mentality. They believe that although industries, markets, and firms may differ; business principles translate across all. Being selective with who they work with and taking a long-term approach are two of the guiding principles on how they procure their ideal clients and partners. The Jacobs Scheriff Group specializes in 4 main areas: Revenue Optimization and Growth, Business Development and Strategy, Brand Awareness and Marketing, and Investor Relationship Management. Erin and Adam pride themselves on their honesty and integrity and are not afraid to tell someone what they need to hear as opposed to what they want to hear. They believe that every business has a social responsibility to their stakeholders as much as their shareholders. And that taking a holistic approach while working with any organization will have the greatest impact possible. Adam is proud to be the youngest Chair of the Board ever of the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce and is honored to again be named to the Carlsbad Chamber 40 Under 40 and congratulates all of the honorees this year!

Joe Carballo

Founder
The Carballo Agency

"Quality is a race with no finish line" are words that were instilled in Joe Carballo at a young age. From the beginning his parents taught him the value of hard work, dedication, and relentless pursuit of personal development. Those core values have been the guiding force for Joe at every facet of life. In 2021 when Joe launched The Carballo Agency, a full-service Life and Health Insurance Agency, he knew that his core values would be put to the test and he was more than ready for the challenge.

"It was 2020, in the thick of the pandemic, I had just been laid-off, and it was time for the next chapter of my professional career to begin. All I knew is that I wanted to help people, I wanted full control of my schedule, an opportunity to make a great living, and the flexibility to work from anywhere I wanted. As I researched various industries and the impact the pandemic had on them the Insurance and Financial Solutions sector kept popping up. To be successful in an industry I had zero experience in, I knew I had to rely heavily on my core values and that I had to embrace a learning curve. The most rewarding opportunity now is showing other team members how to achieve their personal and professional goals. Relentless pursuit of personal growth is a core value here and we are looking for those individuals who share the same passion.

Emily Bonds

Director of Education
Agua Hedionda Lagoon Foundation

Emily Bonds knows how to teach about the watershed in the great outdoors. She is sustainably minded, an innovator, supports our culture and creates growth. This year she envisioned 8 different themed camps for the summer. She found extra space at the Discovery Center (D.C.) and was able to launch camps for 48 students each week. She doubled our impact by adding two weeks and 12 more spots each week; all while keeping the small group hands-on learning at the curriculum's core. The camps were completely filled in a week. Emily and her team are always adapting and making the educational programs an extraordinary part of our entire commitment here at the D.C. One of Emily's many traits is her can-do attitude. She steps up to help and is often the first person checking to find out if there is anything she could do to lighten your workload. Emily lives in "the bonus round of life" and has a huge following of little people vying for her attention daily.

Megan A Draper
President and CEO
Furniture Reuse Solutions

Sustainability and community are the watchwords of Furniture Reuse Solutions. Megan has been instrumental in the company's local impact. In the past three years, her work has led to diverting more than 3,000 tons from the landfill by placing 150+ thousand pieces of furniture with charitable organizations. With Megan at the helm, FRS has been able to match surplus inventories with charities and non-profits, and strengthen logistics of loading and shipping, and providing site management and reporting.

FRS clients include prominent tech companies, universities in California, and school districts nationwide. Megan and team are currently in the midst of a three-year project encompassing 84 Long Beach Unified School District schools. The furniture, no longer needed by LBUSD, is greatly appreciated in disadvantaged schools in Africa, The Middle East, Central America, Mexico, and the United States.

When Megan visited recipient schools in Nicaragua five years ago, the impact FRS was clear. These items were a first for the children and boosted their self-esteem, helping to spearhead their motivation to learn. Knowing many families live on a mere dollar a day brought into clear perspective that we can each do our part to help the next generation. This experience further solidified her belief in what FRS offers the world. When surplus furniture reaches a higher purpose, it makes a difference.

When supply chain delays significantly impact the team and the non-profits FRS assists, Megan's collaborative leadership and alternative solutions have helped in the success of projects, regardless of these obstacles. With a strong logistics and customer service background, Megan strives to provide cost-effective solutions to clients and assists partners in fulfilling humanitarian needs in the United States and abroad.

Megan is a huge reason FRS is third-party certified as a Women's Business Enterprise and a woman-owned small business (WOSB) through the Women's Business Enterprise Council (WBENC).

Congrats to Megan A Draper, we are thrilled to have you leading the way at Furniture Reuse Solutions!
